Mr. Frank Cundall, Secretary and Librarian of the Institute of Jamaica, returned to the island yesterday after a two months' holiday and rest cure in England. He landed off the Elders and Fyffer steamer Cavina which came into port from Avonmouth.

Serious illness caused Mr. Cundall to particularly take this holiday and it was interesting to hear him say that his health had improved and he had come back with a feeling of new strength to carry on his work.

"The two sea trips across the Atlantic have improved my health and given me, I hope, new strength to carry on my work," said Mr. Cundall, in an interview on arrival.

Talking about what he had done on his visit to England, he gave an interesting account of his stay which revealed that his improved health had enabled him to do a great deal of work in connection with his
