'Kapo's' right leg amputated...

World famed Mallica Reynolds, popularly known as "Kapo" sculpture and painter and religious leader of the St. Michael Revival Tablernacle at 3 Gandhi Road, Kingston 11 has been a patient in the Nuttall Memorial Hospital since January 9.

In an exclusive interview with the STAR yesterday he said that his right leg has been amputated the day after his admission and he expressed high praises for the entire staff of that institution.

"The doctors and nurses are very nice people and the place is nice,"

Kapo declared with a bright smile on his face.
