B/N SEAGA EDWARD

FORMER PRIME Minister, the Most. Hon. Edward Seaga, was last week installed as Chancellor of the University of Technology, and conferred with an Honourary Degree of Doctor of Letters, at a ceremony hosted at the institution's Old Hope Road campus in Kingston.

In his inaugural address, Mr. Seaga said it takes skilled workers to employ the unskilled, and therefore, a vital role of the University is to promote and create jobs. "Education must be a tool for learning and earning.

It must serve the need to know, and the need to grow," he remarked.

Mr. Seaga said universities are, "the institutions on which our future will depend, to transform hopelessness to hopefulness, it is the powerhouse of intellectual energy, the bank of human resources, and the soul of the society." The Chancellor noted that UTech is now a medium-sized institution, and can go further, with its expansion, if given the support. "I'm proud to be a part of this dynamic institution at this time," he stated.
