'Huie nude not art'

The Editor, STAR:—

I would like through the medium of your "valuable" columns to express my personal disapproval and utter contempt of the picture "Reclining Nude" by Albert Huie which appeared in your issue of Tuesday, March 14. Across pages 6 and 7

To my mind, there was nothing "artistic" about such an unsightly pose of a naked woman. It is merely an indecent, suggestive immodest picture of a painting by an artist sugar-coated by the euphemistic appellation of artistic.

As the father of small children, I am not in favour of presenting this type of "food for thought" to their under-developed minds, and to spread it across a public newspaper is by no means nourishment for all and sundry to "admire." Keep the painting if you so desire, at the Art Gallery of the Institute, and let the curious adults inspect it there.

I wonder, Mr. Editor, if you will be "manly" enough to give this letter the same publicity you gave the picture or will you let it recline in your files. No doubt, there are others who share my view in this matter.

I am, etc ,
