EASTON LEE

An author, dramatist, actor, theatre director, photographer and media personality, EASTON LEE is deeply involved in Jamaica's artistic and cultural life.

His professional career has been spent chiefly in the field of Communications where he has maintained a high standard of excellence whether as radio or T.V. announcer; director of audiovisual programming or as public relations Consultant.

It is in the field of drama, however, that EASTON LEE has perhaps made his greatest contribution to the artistic life in Jamaica. He has done this not only as a Drama Officer at the former Social Welfare Commission but as a playwright and director. "The Rope and the cross", his best known play has been produced several times at home and abroad and has also been published.

THE COUNCIL OF THE INSTITUTE OF JAMAICA IS PLEASED TO AWARD A SILVER MUSGRAVE MEDAL FOR 1988 TO EASTON LEE FOR HIS CONTRIBUTION IN THE FIELD OF CULTURE.
